To whom it may concern:

Our company is extremely dependent on a well functioning IT infrastructure. As an advertising agency, we are deadline driven and every second counts. We have two different environments, MAC and PC and our worlds need to communicate with each other seamlessly. After trials and tribulations with many other IT companies, we chose D-Tech Consulting to serve our needs. D-Tech first emerged on the scene after a major server problem; our then current IT Company spent 5 days attempting to fix the issue. With no end in sight, D-Tech consulting was called in and fixed the problem in less than 1 hour. Needless to say, they have been supporting us ever since.

A few months later, we are reaping huge benefits from the best practices D-Tech put into place. They brought an attention to detail not found in any other IT companies. In addition to the solid policies and procedures implemented, D-Tech provided solid project management for our major office move. Careful planning and execution resulted in minimal downtime. We have no doubt that our IT environment is in good hands. Not only is the service outstanding, we trust D-Tech's recommendations and know that they have our best interests in mind.

Sincerely,
